The latest LED from long established UK firm Lumicycle is a top performing, totally versatile all-rounder.

The three-LED head gives a long reaching mid-spread beam that gives a great distance/peripheral vision balance.

It's light enough to be comfy with the basic but effective helmet mount. The toggle switch is really fast and easy to use even with gloves on or when it's on the helmet. The max power boost mode is also great for emergencies. Run time on medium power – which it automatically defaults to – is excellent despite the small Elite bag battery and there's a power indicator light too. The XPG is compatible with Lumicycles' other batteries and head units so you can upgrade or pick and mix to suit. UK manufacturer back-up and excellent reliability boost already good value.
